The Korea International Cooperation Agency was founded as a government agency on April 1, 1991, to maximize the effectiveness of Korea's grant aid programs for developing countries by implementing the government's grant aid and technical cooperation programs.

In the past, development cooperation efforts were focused on meeting the Basic Human Needs (BHNs) of developing countries and on fostering their Human Resources Development (HRD).

However, the focus has now shifted to promoting sustainable development, strengthening partnerships with developing partners, and enhancing the local ownership of beneficiaries.

Additionally, global concerns such as the environment, poverty reduction, gender mainstreaming, and population have gained significant importance among donor countries.

Due to the continuously changing trends in development assistance efforts and practices, KOICA is striving to adapt to these changes by using its limited financial resources effectively on areas where Korea has a comparative advantage.

In particular, since Korea has the unique experience of developing from one of the poorest countries in the world to one of the most economically advanced, this knowhow is an invaluable asset that helps KOICA to efficiently support the sustainable socio-economic development of its partner countries.

Korea's ODA Framework

Official Development Assistance (ODA) is composed of grants or concessional loans, which are provided to developing countries with the purpose of promoting economic development and welfare.

Korea's ODA is classified into three areas: 1) bilateral aid (grant aid & technical cooperation), 2) bilateral loans, and 3) financial subscriptions and contributions to international organizations (multilateral).

Bilateral aid is comprised of technical cooperation and various types of transfer (made in cash, goods or services) with no obligation for repayment, and is implemented by KOICA under the authority of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in the Republic of Korea. Bilateral loans are provided on concessional terms under the name of the Economic Development Cooperation Fund (EDCF), implemented by the Export-Import Bank of Korea under the Ministry of Strategy and Finance. Multilateral assistance is delivered either as financial subscriptions or contributions to international organizations.

Korea's Experience and KOICA's Program for Human Resources Development

Human Resource Development (HRD) has been the most important factor in Korea's escape from the vicious cycle of poverty and underdevelopment that had existed for many decades. With scant natural resources, HRD played a vital role in modern Korea's development. Clearly, Korea has emerged as an exemplary showcase of national development powered by human resources development.

From its own development experience, Korea came to fully recognize the significance of HRD, specifically in regards to Korea's collaboration with other developing countries. With much experience and know-how in HRD, Korea can contribute greatly to the international community by sharing its unique development experience with other nations.

Since its establishment in 1991, KOICA has supported a variety of international cooperation programs for HRD, mainly in project-type aid form focusing on education and vocational training with a focus in building a foundation for HRD.

The training program provides opportunities to individuals from developing countries to gain first-hand knowledge of Korea's development experience. The purpose of the program is to enable the participants to apply what they learned for the development of their home country or local community. Since 1991, KOICA has an accumulated sum of 58,916 participants who have enrolled in the program, and each year we invite approximately 5,000 participants under some 300 different courses. There are a wide range of topics covered in the training program, including administration, economic development, science and technology, information and communication technology, agriculture and health. In order to meet the changing needs of partner countries, KOICA always strives to renovate and improve its HRD programs.

Types of KOICA Training Programs

KOICA offers five major types of training programs:

1. Country Training Program
Tailored programs that are specifically designed for an individual partner country
2. Regular Training Program
Programs that are open to any interested partner countries
3. Special Training Program
Programs that are temporarily available owing to particular commitments of the Korean as well as partner governments
4. Joint Training Program
Programs conducted in partnership with international organizations and other agencies
5. Scholarship Program
Master's degree programs offered to individuals from partner countries

KOICA's Scholarship Program

With a mission to nurture talented students from developing countries, KOICA invites high-caliber students from developing countries and helps them gain professional and systematic knowledge that will play a key role in their home country's development.

To accomplish this mission, KOICA has been operating master's degree courses with leading Korean universities in the fields of economics, trade, women's empowerment, rural development, etc.

In particular, this program has significantly strengthened the relationships between Korea and the students' home countries. Students, who have been given an opportunity to see Korea's experience in poverty reduction and socio-economic development, will gain a deeper understanding of Korea and contribute to the future social, political and economic ties between the two nations.

From 1997 to 2015, the program has assisted a total of 2,598 students through 141 courses. And as of 2015, 388 participants will participate in 19 master's degree programs at 19 Korean universities.

KOICA Scholarship Program is fully committed to the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and is determined to expand its efforts to nurture future talents from developing countries to promote their countries' sustainable economic growth and social development.

3. CURRICULUM

A. Program Background

The Republic of Korea, once among the poorest countries in the world until the 1960's successfully overcame poverty to become one of the donor countries. Korea has achieved great economic growth and democracy as well. Now she is at the leading edge in the development and use of information and communication technologies.

Saemaul Undong is one of the symbols of Korea's development. It represents a strong social movement that transformed her rural communities during 1970's. It brought about increases in the revenues of rural families and reductions in the income gap between the urban and rural residents. Saemaul Undong also had significant implications because it was quite successful in making government exercise leadership through mobilizing support for rural people to become more active and participative in changing their living conditions and solving their own community problems.

This program focuses on the training of future Saemaul Undong instructors who will then educate their countries' government, social, and community leaders. It also aims at educating policy specialists who develop and implement community development policies in the context of national development based on the lessons from Saemaul Undong of Korea.

In order to develop these types of human resources, this program offers diverse interdisciplinary courses which provide students with opportunities to learn theoretical backgrounds, best practices, implementing issues, and success cases in relation to community development in general and Saemaul Undong in particular.

The program curriculum was designed with the following intentions. Fall and spring semester and winter session focus on the theory learning. Summer session concentrates more on the application of Saemaul Undong spirit and principles in the daily life as well as its implementation with Korean village people near Canaan Farmers' School. Fall semester of the second year will ask students to think over what they should do to apply Saemul Undong to their own communities and societies.

B. Regular Semesters and Sessions

The program is run for three regular semesters, plus two summer/winter sessions: from fall semester of 2016 to fall semester of 2017, as shown in the table below.

Semester	Total Credits (46)	Place	Duration
Fall Semester 2016	12 credits	Yonsei University	16 weeks
Winter Session 2016	10 credits	Yonsei University	6 weeks
Spring Semester 2017	12 credits	Yonsei University	16 weeks
Summer Session 2017	6 credits	Canaan Farmers' School	6 weeks
Fall Semester 2017	6 credits	Yonsei University	16 weeks
Spring Semester 2018	0 credit	Home Country	16 weeks

Therefore, students should complete all their course requirements and thesis for graduation by the fall semester of 2017 within 16 months. When they succeed in completing all graduation requirements, they will receive the master diploma in August, 2018 because the Korean Education Law only allows issuance of a graduation certificate after 18 months have passed (that is, in the fourth semester). So, the spring semester of 2018 in the above table is only to meet the requirements of Korean government's Education Law.

Regular semesters (fall and spring) consist of 16 weeks, and students normally take 12 credits in each semester. During the semesters, all classes will be open at Yonsei University Wonju campus except for the summer session 2017.

During the summer session, classes will be open at the Canaan Farmers' School (see the details of this institution on Part V), one of the affiliated institutions for this program. All students will stay at the dormitory of the Canaan Farmers' School for 6 weeks when they have classes there. The standard daily schedule at the Canaan Farmers' School during the semester is as shown in the table below

Canaan Farmers' School Standard Daily Schedule

Time	Schedule
05:00~06:00	Morning roll call/ Exercise
08:00	Breakfast
09:30~12:30	Lecture/ Discussion
13:00	Lunch
14:00~17:00	Lecture/Practices/Reflection
18:00	Dinner
21:30	Evening Roll Call
22:00	Bedtime

Students must complete all semesters and sessions provided by the program during their study period in Korea. When students want to take some break between semesters, they can only take a break after the summer and winter sessions when no academic activities are going on.

1. GENERAL INFORMATION

1) About Yonsei University

Being the oldest private university in Korea, Yonsei University was first established in 1885 by Christian missionaries. Its mission is to educate leaders who will contribute to mankind in the spirit of “truth and freedom.” Around 300,000 Yonsei alumni who take this calling to heart can be found manifesting this proud spirit from leadership positions around the world.

Yonsei’s main campus is ensconced in a spacious, picturesque and natural setting located minutes away from the economic, political, and cultural centers of Seoul’s metropolitan downtown. Yonsei has more than 4,800 eminent faculty members who are conducting cutting-edge research across all academic disciplines. There are 21 graduate schools, 22 colleges and 131 subsidiary institutions hosting a selective pool of students from around the world.

2) About Wonju Campus

Yonsei University Wonju Campus was founded in 1977 as a second campus to Seoul campus. As of 2014, the campus has 8,092 undergraduates, 1,059 graduate students and 1,006 faculty members in 35 academic departments. The city of Wonju is located in Gangwon province, and about 60 miles east of Seoul. The 500-acre campus is surrounded by a dense forest and a beautiful lake, while featuring highly-equipped facilities, great cultural diversity and a cosmopolitan atmosphere.

3) About Graduate School

The Graduate School of Government, Business, and Entrepreneurship researches and teaches theories and practices in the changing society under Yonsei's founding principles of truth and freedom. It was established in March 1990 to contribute to social development by nurturing talents with leadership, creativity, and capability. The graduate school targets students who aspire to systematically and effectively study the new area of middle managers from all sectors. There are six more majors (all Korean) in addition to this Program: economics and trade, business administration, public administration, educational administration, political science, and international welfare. The graduates are actively working in all corners of Korean society utilizing their capabilities that have been nurtured throughout its master program.

In addition, in order to meet the trends such as democratization, localization, and globalization, Yonsei developed a course for high-level executives based on its experience and strength in education. Around 1, 100 students completed the short-term executive course over 23 rounds to improve their leadership and capabilities. In September 2011, the graduate school opened a new Master's Degree Program on Rural Society Leadership Development for Global Poverty Reduction as a special program for government officials who will play major roles in overcoming poverty in developing countries in the financial support of KOICA. Now this Master's degree program on community development leadership is an extension of former program and on Saemaul Undong. By transferring knowledge of Saemaul Undong to the future instructors and policy makers from developing countries, this program will be expected to contribute to the sustainable development of their own countries.

4) Canaan Farmers' School

Aiming to produce model communities of poverty eradication based on mindset transformation and to raise leaders who would practice and live out the changed mindset, the Canaan Farmers' School movement has played a crucial role since its establishment in 1931. It taught national pride to the Korea public, stimulating them to work for poverty eradication through agriculture. The movement later evolved into a social movement, encompassing every aspect of life, especially through practical vocational training. It was also adapted as the role model for New Village Movement (Saemaul Undong) education. Now, ten overseas branches of the Canaan Farmers' School have been set up around the world.

The education of Canaan Farmers' School focuses on the changes in trainees' mindset, attitude and lifestyle. In this regard, its education goes on very strong and demands more disciplined way of living of trainees
